

Who can become a member?

As a prerequisite you must aspire to a research career, have at least (almost) completed your Master's degree and focus your research activities on the analysis, promotion, organisation, achievement and/or maintenance of health and health services, whether on an individual or public level. Researchers from health economics, public health, social and community medicine, epidemiology, health care management, are especially encouraged to join, as are people looking into the matter from a political sciences or sociological point of view, but we are not limited to these studies. A strong interest in international and multidisciplinary teamwork as well as the willingness to share knowledge and experience and organise events are vital. If you have any questions concerning the membership, just contact us.

There are various ways in which you can contribute, for example by offering scholarships, training courses or simply by paying an annual membership fee. In return we can offer you access to an international network of dedicated and highly motivated young researchers from all areas and sectors of health.

Membership Fees

The board and all actively involved members contribute their time and efforts on an honorary basis. However, to keep the network going and to offer benefits to all, we rely on membership fees, subsidies and sponsorships to finance these activities. By joining the network and paying your membership fee on time, you contribute to the high quality services YRIHN is dedicated to offer.

Annual Fee for PostDocs and Non-Students: EUR 80,00 / USD 90,00

You will receive an invoice via e-mail with the bank details. A financial report will be presented at each General Assembly by the Treasurer of YRIHN. All members, who paid their annual fees, are entitled to demand a disclosure of the financial activities at any time.

If you like the idea of our network and simply want to support us financially, there is the option to become a supporting member. You will receive a confirmation with the amount paid which is tax deductible.
